The 2016 AADB Mid-Year Meeting will be held April 10-11, 2016 at the ADA Headquarters, Chicago, IL.

The 133rd Annual Meeting will be held on November 19-20, 2016 in Denver, CO.
Various stakeholders in the dental profession, including representatives from testing agencies, gathered in Chicago for the recent July Licensure Task Force meeting convened by the ADA. The focus of this discussion was to address the issues that have now become a national conversation. Most specifically licensure portability, the consideration of a universal exam and the possibility of a non-patient based exam replacing the patient based clinical exam. AADB is no stranger to these discussions as there was considerable attention focused on the licensure issue in early 2000. AADB was well-represented by Dr. Daniel Gesek (AADB CDEL appointee) and myself.

The discussion that took place was educative, interactive and most of all respectful. I left the meeting with a positive feeling that all parties have the same goal; to work well together towards solving the issues that face us today. The general consensus seemed to be that licensure portability is an issue that should be addressed first and may possibly be the most achievable at present. However, it was also obvious that there is a need for further deliberation as we did not reach any particular solution. This year has been one of heavy discussion as the pathways to licensure and the merits and components of the patient based licensing exam are coming under heavy scrutiny once again in the dental profession by the many stakeholders and the general public. Through dialogue with AADB the stakeholders are becoming aware of the purview of the state boards and our responsibilities and realize that what may be desired may not necessarily be easily achievable or realistic.

None of us in regulation are strangers to the way statutes, regulations and policies are sometimes changed without state board member knowledge or input. Frequently, we are left with the difficult task to interpret badly worded legislation and enforce the dictated change which might lead to conflicting messages sent to the licensee and the public. In addition, conflicting wording makes it unclear as to the level or way of enforcement that is open to regulatory agencies, sometimes leaving our hands tied.

I encourage all state boards to get actively involved in this discussion, stay abreast of this national debate and be leaders in their own states. Even if a topic is uncomfortable, it is best to be forewarned and therefore prepared so we can continue to be stewards of protecting the public rather than be forced to enforce legislation that may not protect the public as adequately as we desire.

AADB continues to support its members by supplying the latest information so our members can stay current as developments occur nationally. Please do not hesitate to contact the AADB or myself if you have any questions or comments. I urge all our members to be aware, be assertive, and be interactive and stay ahead of the curve.
The 132\textsuperscript{nd} Annual Meeting theme will be \textit{Advocacy}. Anticipated topics include Impact of the Supreme Court Decision on Boards, Model Legislation, Baucus-Grassley Report on Corporate Dentistry, Licensure Portability, FTC Addressing New Era of Oversight, Dental Advocacy, and invited members of Congress.

Dental boards are facing unique challenges, and the manner in which they face them will dictate the future of our grand profession. The AADB is in a position to aid and guide dental boards through these interesting waters. The AADB can ensure that our patients remain protected. We can influence the laws and rules that regulate dentistry, and ensure they will enable and encourage practitioners to provide quality care to their patients.

When I began my practice, the majority of our profession was solo practitioners with the needed hygienists, assistants, and administrative staff to treat the existing patients of record. It was a time when most professionals, including dentists, did not advertise. Dental insurance was a luxury that most patients did not enjoy. My dental school student loan debt was $64,000.

The environment in education, practice, and managed care is rapidly changing. Today we have multiple dentists practicing at one or multiple locations in group practice or corporate models. New dentists graduate with $300-400k student loan debt and little intention of ever owning their own dental practice. Patients are bombarded by dental advertisements via direct mail, internet pop ups, texts, emails, billboards, magazines, newspapers, etc. In many parts of the country dentists either participate in the PPOs, HMOs, or other managed care plans or have a lot of openings in their schedules. Many practitioners feel compelled to modify their treatment plans to satisfy a third party, be it an insurance company or an employer. In many parts of the country hygienists are graduating only to find limited employment opportunities.

These conditions create interesting ethical dilemmas for some practitioners and the state boards that have to deal with these practitioners when they step outside of the bounds of state laws and rules governing dentistry. The AADB needs to be poised to provide guidance and leadership to our state boards to enable them to successfully navigate these and other challenges.

The AADB mission statement is outstanding and reads “to serve as a resource by providing a national forum for exchange, development and dissemination of information to assist dental regulatory boards with their obligation to protect the public.”

Here is my vision for the AADB -- That the AADB be the ultimate resource for dental boards. We can serve as this resource via data collection, information sharing, continued education of board members, and guidance for developing ethical and effective policies to help maintain our profession and protect the public.

An organization thrives on the clarity and effectiveness of its communication with its publics. Most large organizations struggle with communication. We need to improve our communication with state boards by increased representation at our biannual meetings by attracting new members and getting active participation from our existing members. We also need a streamlined mechanism for efficient communication during the times between meetings. This will be a focal point of my AADB service.
So...who am I?

- General dentist. Solo practice in Eustis, Florida for 22 years.
- U.S. Navy Dental Corps 1987-1991
- Board of Dentistry member for 8 years 2007-present (Board Chairman 2012)
- ADA Council on Dental Practice 2004-2008
- ADA Dentist Well Being Advisory Committee 2005-2014 (Chairman 2005-2008)
- ADA Delegate to ADA House 2007-12
- ADEX Board of Directors 2011-Present
- Married (Lynne), daughter and 2 grandchildren

Additionally, I have an outstanding working relationship with the current members of the AADB executive committee and would be honored to work with them. Sir Isaac Newton is credited with saying, “If I have seen further it is by standing on the shoulders of giants.” The efforts, dedication, and commitment of our previous leaders enable all of us to carry the torch even further. The AADB is a very effective organization in dentistry and my goal is to help make the AADB better and more effective.

I would be equally honored to serve you as the AADB 3rd Vice President and humbly ask for your vote. If you have questions regarding my candidacy please feel free to contact me by voice 352-250-8832 or by email at wgw2thdr@aol.com.

Many members of the American Association of Dental Boards have accomplished careers and are members of the Baby Boom generation. We as Boomers were adamant about changing the Establishment as we knew it. We each grew in our own way and made commitments to change, working within the system to make a difference. Some of us, like me, were called to war. As an enlisted man, I returned from Vietnam to pursue my education after discharge. My education was essential to my success. Each of us has achieved our success through education and the Establishment of our profession. The dental profession is a function of its members and the organizations within it.

Now we hold the reigns of the profession. We are the Establishment. So let’s not forget where we came from and our position when our dental careers began. Let’s not forget the lack of communication we felt with the old gray haired men who controlled our futures when first entering the profession.

The 21st Century is here and the old mid-century ideas must bend to the changing times. There are many issues on the horizon which must be dealt with. Graduating dental students buried in debt, a more mobile society, and changes in practice patterns, corporate dentistry, the Supreme Court decision, a growing Federal Government and many other factors which must be faced.

We need an AADB that is healthy and robust, that we, as Board members from across the country, can rely upon. Our current issues have created an environment where a viable AADB is needed more than ever before. Now, our hair is graying and its time for us to be empathetic to the younger professionals. Let’s not forget who we are and where we came from. Let’s open our minds to needed change. Let’s work together to make the AADB a more functional organization that deals with current issues. An organization that will collectively identify our problems, then, together create effective solutions relative to our changing world.

I believe my experience as a dental hygienist in various settings, a dental hygiene examiner, past member of the Oregon Board of Dentistry and my education will enable me to assist in making valuable contributions as the AADB Dental Hygienist Member. I support the American Association of Dental Boards with its mission as a long-standing and critical resource for dental regulatory boards with respect to interaction, knowledge, processes, methods, developments, and current events in their role to protect the public. I envision the AADB role and increased influence to be shaped by the important involvement of educators, examiners, the accreditation field and regulators. I would like to realize growth in AADB membership and financial soundness. I will work diligently as a team player and supportive dental hygiene member to further the mission of AADB.

VISION STATEMENT

The dental profession’s role in the health care of our citizenry is vital. My appreciation of the significance of that role, and the importance of the role of state dental regulatory boards in assuring competent and ethical dental care, has been an important aspect of my growth as a public member of the Maryland State Board of Dental Examiners. I am fully invested in the mission of the American Association of Dental Boards mission to assist Boards in the primary objective of protecting the public, by providing resources, information, and opportunities for collaboration and development. Such assistance can be a factor in achieving a Board decision or action that is in the public interest, protects patients, and is fair and impartial to all involved. Each year decisions on new issues arise, or an unusual set of circumstances presents itself. Sharing of ideas, experiences, and solutions, is an important aspect of decision-making.

I recently had the experience of personally observing a clinical examination for dental students. Although a rigorous and stressful process for the students, the clinical examination itself, and the exam process was impressive. Issues involving examinations must continuously be addressed. Written examination content, validity, and eligibility are matters that can be constantly challenged, and must be examined to assure the highest standards, and competency in the profession.

Access to quality dental care, particularly in underserved areas, is an issue that must be a matter of focus to the profession, as it also addresses care demands, the need for more dental professionals, and the increased cost of dental training. Programs to help retain competent dentist already in the profession, such as Dental Well-being Committees, and the AADB D-Prep program (Dentist Professional Review and Evaluation Program) help to retain those already in the profession by addressing personal problems, and providing a remediation resource. A resource, such as the D-Prep program, for referral by Boards of those needing remediation help, is an important tool for Boards. Evaluation of the program and its results should be ongoing.

I look forward to opportunities for networking and continued collaboration on AADB matters, programs, legal issues and rulemaking; and to be a source of providing public/consumer input to our various deliberations.
AADB Citizen of the Year

Each year, the American Association of Dental Boards, through its Awards Committee, solicits nominations for the "Citizen of the Year" award. The award is given at the Association's Annual Meeting. The nominee should be an AADB member who has made significant contributions to the dental profession in general and the dental examining community in particular. The Board of Directors has agreed that Board members, while in office, should not be considered for the award.

Below are some "Points of Consideration" when choosing a candidate. Dedicated service in the dental examining community is expected but seldom acknowledged. This is an opportunity to recognize a deserving colleague.

(If a member of the Awards Committee is nominated, that member should excuse him- or herself from the Committee and another should be appointed to the vacant position,

Points of Consideration
• Service to the AADB such as length of membership, meeting attendance, service on committees or leadership positions
• Regional and/or State Board committees and leadership positions
• Participation in state, regional or national programs
• Experience in the examination process
• Participation in other professional organizations
• Community Service

The AADB is very pleased to partner with Nova Southeastern University to provide additional remediation resources to our state boards. More details to come!

ERA

On average, the fourteen cases that have been brought to the AADB have been assigned to a reviewer who holds expertise to a specific board’s needs, evaluated and returned for board review in 30 days or less!

Remediation

Remediation offers state boards with an intense, customized curriculum of refresher courses, tailored for each respondent. Through this program, AADB offers state boards the peace of mind of knowing that their dental practitioners can be held accountable to the highest standards of practice.

D-PREP

18 assessments have been completed through our assessment program, providing state boards with an intensive, in-depth evaluation of each respondent’s areas for improvement. Through D-PREP, the AADB can offer clear suggestions to a state board for further remediation of dental practitioners.

Get Ready! 2015 132nd AADB Annual Meeting November 3-4 Washington, DC
Mr. Tarrant attended the Federation of Associations of Regulatory Boards’ (FARB) inaugural National Policy Summit on Professional Regulation on July 23, 2015. FARB welcomed Chief Executive Officers and Executive Directors from Twenty-two associations and federations of regulatory boards to discuss professional regulation and efforts to collaborate on the collective health, safety and welfare missions surrounding the regulatory community. Participants engaged in lively and productive discussions on a variety of relevant topics ranging from a collective regulatory voice, state-based regulation and antitrust implications of statutorily created and authorized regulatory boards.
Supreme Court Decision: Oklahoma Governor Executive Action

At the Federation of Associations of Regulatory Boards Policy Summit, the group discussed the Oklahoma Governor signing an executive order authorizing the state attorney general to review proposed actions of numerous state regulatory boards. The Oklahoma Board of Dentistry, Board of Pharmacy, Real Estate Commission, Funeral Board, Board of Cosmetology and Barbering, Abstractors Board and Board of Accountancy are included in boards that require review under the new order. Board members will be subject to removal for misconduct if they reject the attorney general’s advice.

The order is an effort to respond to the US Supreme Court North Carolina decision and reduce exposure to possible antitrust lawsuits. The attorney general’s office provides legal counsel to state boards and commissions but the executive order formalizes the process of reviewing board actions that could have anti-competitive ramifications.
Dental Service Organization (DSO) Principles

AADB was invited to participate in meetings between the American Dental Association (ADA) and Association of Dental Service Organizations (ADSO) to discuss the application of the ADSO code of ethics and the ADA recognition of emerging practice models. AADB monitored the dialogue as some dentists working for DSO’s have had complaints brought before dental boards. ADA and ADSO are seeking common ground where dentists who choose this practice model can work without Dental Support Organizations unduly influencing the care delivered to a patient and interfering in the doctor-patient relationship.
Licensure Portability

AADB has been invited to attend separate meetings hosted by the American Dental Association (July 2015) and American Dental Education Association (October 2015) to discuss improving license portability. At the upcoming AADB Annual Meeting, presentations will be made on the subject. This represents an opportunity for AADB to restate its policy on clinical examinations and the independent state determination of criteria for dental licensure.
The AADB's Assessment Services Program Needs You!

The American Association of Dental Boards operates the Assessment Services Program (ASP), a comprehensive program of review services designed to assist dental boards throughout the discipline process. The AADB is looking for AADB members, including specialists, with past dental board experience to serve as expert reviewers as the program expands to meet the needs of the boards. AADB members who are interested in participating in the program and would like to be included in an advanced training session should forward their CVs and related expert witness or review experience documentation to the AADB central office by mail, FAX: 312.440.3525 or email: mpfeiffer@dentalboards.org. These documents will be reviewed by the ASP committee and members will be selected to participate in a one day training session, Monday, November 2, 2015 right before the AADB 132nd Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C.

Training sessions will only be able to accommodate a limited number of participants because of the material being covered. Please note that this training will be provided at no charge to participants, although participants will be required to underwrite their own costs for attending both the AADB Annual Meeting and the training session. Once involved in the program, those members choosing to participate in ASP will be compensated on a “per case” basis for their review services. Although the AADB will only be able to involve a limited number of participants in this training session, it is anticipated that expert assessors will continue to be added as the program grows.
27th Edition of the Composite

The AADB is in the final stages of collecting data for the 27th Edition of the Composite. A final call will be made to states that have not submitted data. Many organizations use the Composite as a valuable resource and, as with any statistical document, it is only as good as the information supplied.

AADB requests all states to submit their data as soon as possible.
